

Garden Blog - Wednesday 31st January 2018

We were very excited to welcome staff and volunteers from Butser Ancient Farm today. We have successfully grown Wheat, Flax and Goosefoot from ancient seed stock given to us by Butser, so it was a joy to have them visit us from Hampshire. Richard gave an amazing talk and walk about Hengistbury Head. It is wonderful to be reminded of all the interest there is here.

Although very windy in the garden today, Primrose and Snowdrops are flowering, as is the Hamamelis mollis - Witch Hazel. There is colour with the red Euphorbia and many areas are looking green. Bulbs are beginning to push up and before long we will once again be wondering how all the ground is covered.

A brief Blog today but the garden continues to delight. Look forward to seeing you when you visit.

The Gardeners at Hengistbury Head Wildlife Garden.