

Picnic In A Field    by Anya Frankland

Ten weeks into lockdown,
Not leaving my home,
I went for a picnic,
In a field all alone.

I was excited and happy,
As I ran through the grass,
Hopping, skipping and jumping,
I was going so fast.

After not going out,
The world seemed so big,
Full of bright colours,
Flowers, trees, insects and twigs.

Everything is so quiet,
No cars can be heard,
But if you listen carefully,
You'll hear the chirping of birds.

Nature is amazing,
I feel lucky to be here,
The world is so beautiful,
I have nothing to fear!
